

7. The Escorxador

HISTORY: Escorxador means slaughterhouse in Valencian. This was its original use, and was near the old Cabanyal Market in plaza Dr. Lorenzo la Flor. It later became a meeting point for the residents of the Cabanyal who organised the citizens' platform "Salvem El Cabanyal". Since then they have fought to revitalise, restore and conserve the heritage of the area in all aspects. This building is the Historical Archive and interpretative centre for the Cabanyal. It contains information about many years of life in the Cabanyal.

PHYSICAL DISABILITY

The Escorxador is awaiting refurbishment, which will include the following amendments in its structure:

Access through gate with more than 200 cm-wide free passage has no slope.

The building's ground floor contains the reception, the information point, the cafeteria / shop, two adapted toilets and the courtyard on the first floor the archive and research rooms, the library / multimedia library, the multimedia exhibition room, meeting space and the administration office.

Ground floor: The building is arranged into a ground floor, through the calle Sant Pere access, a Hall by way of reception, linked directly to three areas: a conference room, an access to the upper floor through a 4-flight staircase, and the entrance to the open central core or courtyard. From the mentioned central courtyard, which has a Porticoed Area and free areas, the Multipurpose Room and the Temporary Exhibitions Room can be accessed. The toilets are located in the centre of the aisle. From calle Luis Despuig there are two direct building accesses leading to the aforementioned auditoriums.

First floor: From the staircase located the right of the entrance hall, you access the upper floor, where there is a Reading and Archive Consultation Room and its Deposit. Moreover, overlooking the Sant Pere façade is located the administration office. In the central part a lift and a toilet will be installed. Both floors are connected through a staircase and lift. When this refurbishment is carried out, the relevant information about said establishment will be filled in.
